

"When it came time to select a landscaping design firm for our new house in Argentina we spent a lot of time looking at the alternatives before selecting Veronica Saguier. It was, unquestionably, the best decision we could have made. Her work is extremely professional, beautifully designed to work in concert with the local vegetation, artistic and delivered on time and on budget. In addition, she works extremely well with your builder to assure that the landscaping work is properly phased during the construction process, and preserved as the house and the landscaping construction are completed. You can't go wrong working with Veronica".
